

In this month's newsletter, we provide a status update on the Government's COVID-19 economic response measures. When looking to enter residential aged care, what to do with your family home can be complex—our animation illustrates the various options and the potential impact of each. Super can be a tax-effective investment structure for building and holding a retirement nest egg as a couple—we discuss both this and spouse contributions. Understanding finance jargon can help when making informed personal finance decisions—we explain commonly used jargon in the residential property investing space. Lastly, we have an informative video by the Bureau of Meteorology that gives context on the recent weather conditions responsible for many Australians' damaged personal property.
